About

We're a Literary Agency with offices in Los Angeles & Austin.

Storyteller Talent Agency is a literary agency representing emerging and bestselling authors across publishing, audio, foreign and translation rights, as well as film and television opportunities. We specialize in working with independently published authors who bring with them a large readership, dedication to marketing, and extremely strong sales across all formats.

Dear Editor,

Thank you for taking the time to review our Foreign Rights Catalog and consider our titles to be among the work you publish. For our authors, seeing their books in multiple languages and reaching international readers is such a cherished milestone.

Each and every client that Storyteller Talent represents has two things: wonderful stories and a collaborative attitude. Our goal is to build career authors, and every translation or new edition excites us.

Although I am not able to make it Frankfurt this year, I will be available for virtual meetings the week of October 5 (link to schedule on last page). If any stories resonate with you, I would love the opportunity to connect with you.

Warmly,
Kayla Bramante
